OVERVIEW

In this tense game of concentration and balance, players will stack cups into towers using a reach extender. The player with the most cups in their tower when the time runs out wins!

- 2 players
- 20 large plastic cups
- 2 reach extenders (These can be found at a discount store or on Amazon.)
- 2 folding tables
- A timer

WHAT YOU'LL NEED

HOW-TO

PREP

- Set up two folding tables in the front of your environment side-by-side.
- Line up ten cups, open-end up and centered along the length of each table. Create as much space between each cup as possible so the cups run from end to end.
- Place a reach extender on each table.

PLAY

Select your players and assign them each a table. For each round, players will move a single cup using only their reach extender and place it on top of other cups to create towers. The cups should be added face up or face down in an every-other pattern. The goal is for the players to stack as many cups as they can within 1-2 minutes to create the tallest tower possible. If any cups or stacks fall during the game, those cups are out, and play will continue until the time runs out. The player who has the most standing cups in a single tower at the end of the game wins!
